

Caruso

Personnel decisions about deans are the responsibility of the president of the University. As I have said before, the Board overwhelmingly supported President Austin's decision with respect to Dean Ellis. We are grateful for the contributions Dean Ellis made while serving in that capacity, and we look forward to the arrival of our new dean, Geoffrey Garrett. We are excited about the Marshall School and its future because the Board views maintaining a top business school as an important priority of the University.